County crime rate lower

Statistics report rates down 10.7 percent for first six months

By Sanford J. Schmidt Staff writer

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine said he's beginning to sound to him-self like a broken record in trend in crime statistics.

Haine was referring to the latest available statistics that show serious crimes in Madison County were down 10.7 percent for the first six months of 1999, compared with a similar period in 1998.

Haine said.
Figures compiled by the Illinois State Police show the number of crimes statewide for the six-month period down from 5.371 in 1998 to 4,796 in 1999, for a 10 percent drop.
The trend in crime statistics has been downward for several years, the state's attorney said.
The rate for serious crimes such as burglary and felony theft dropped 19 percent across the county for the first six months of 1990,

The biggest drop for the first six months of 1999 was in thefts, which dropped from 3.583 to 2.986 for a 17.2 percent decline.

Hallowen is now the commercial celebration of candy and costumes for most people, but what does Halloween mean to you if you are a witch?

"Usually anytime after Oct. 1 is open season on witches, as if they don't exist at any other time of year," said a Wiccan Witch wing goes by the name of Moonshadow, in the article "Be a Witch For

For members of the Wiccan religion, who are known as witches, Hallowen is the celebration of a new year.

"Of course the actual change of the year (Jan.) is still celebrated, but Halloween is a finish of the growth season and a beginning of the recycling of the season has beginning of the recycling of the growth season and a beginning of the recycling of the earth, said Michelle Bryant, a Wiccan practice. The Halloween holiday is called Samhain (pronounced SOW-in) by Wiccans.

The Wiccan religion is earth based, and the Wiccan holidays revolve around the seasons and what messages nature is projecting, stirring from sleep and beginning to bloom. It continues to grow, peaking through the summer until people, think agriculture, began closing shop and harvesting what has grown all year during the fall. Everything on earth is gathering and preparing itself for when many things in nature rest or go end - trees lose their leaves, animals gather food and prepare for the rest before the next blooming, Bryant said.

In the spring, everything is born and begins to grow, during the summer every thing matures, in the fall, everything ages and in the winer tiself. The Samhain holiday is also considered the time the vell between the human and spirit worlds is the thinnest.

Dried Floral Decor by the experts at

NURSERY & CRAFTS Where Beautiful Things Begin

ith the cool fall nights and holidays fast approaching, now is the perfect time to start thinking about creating your own dried flower decor for your home. Here's what you'll need, along with some decor

Only a limited number of flowers can be dried successfully by the home gardener. Statice sinuata, hydrangeas, roses, blue salvia, lavender and larkspur are a few examples.

- Basic Supplies

  Sheet Moss

  Floral Foam Block
  Floral Wire
  Floral Wire
  Floral Pins (or floral wire bent in a "U" shape)

  Adhesive floral tape (or narrow masking tape)

  Serrated Knife
  Scissors

- Scissors
   Wire Cutters
   Low Temperature Glue
- Gun Clear Actylic Spray or Aerosol Hair Spray

There are many items you can use to create your dried decor piece. Try a straw or grapevine wreath or arch. Brass or ceramic vases and baskets are just a few items that make great containers. You can buy these ready made or create your own with a foam block for the base, wooden dowel for the base, wooden dowel for the stem and a foam ball for the top.

Secure the foam with two pieces of adhesive floral tape criss-crossed over the top of the foam and adhering to the top rim of your container.

Cover foam with sheet moss and secure with floral pins. Depending on the style of your decor piece, you may want to allow some of the sheet moss to show.

When you make a wreath or swag, flowers can be secured directly to the surface using a low temperature glue gun. They can also be secured with floral pins. Trying to wire the flower stems to the wreath or swag can cause breakage due to fragile stems.

After selecting what dried flowers you would like to use, cut flower stems into desired lengths. Apply glue to end of stem and insert into foam. Small flowers can be broken into small clusters and glued into your floral decor. Pine cones can offer an added dimension and texture to any arrangement. Place wire around the base, twist and insert into foam, or use in a wreath. Any small pieces of flowers, pods or leaves left over can be used later to fill in where needed.

when decorating an arch, attach one of each style of dried flowers to each end of the arch with floral pins. Use varying lengths of flowers for a more natural look. Continue to attach flowers to arch in layers, working your way toward the center by alternating between the two ends. This will help make the arch even on both sides and evenly space out your flowers.

Maintenance Tips

Maintenance Tips
To prevent fading, never put your dried decor in direct sunlight. Even many commercially preserved flowers will fade over time. If you spray dried flowers with aerosol hair spray or clear acrylic spray, it will prevent cattalls or rose petals from opening. This will also refresh dusty flowers and make them shine.

A special cleaner for dried flowers, available at Frank's, should be used periodically to keep your arrangement looking its best.

Halloween can be harrowing experience for children

Halloween brings out kids' fears and gives parents an which terrors delight and which are truly terrifying.

To some degree, children relish being scared in their fanbeing safe in real life. But for young children, there is a point where a little more is far too much terror, and it is important to respect this.

For example, although her eldest brother had a leading role in a special graduation-week production of the title Shop of Horrors, our daughter, then 7, and 1 spent the time walking around the college campus. Just a glimpse of the people-eating plant in the first act was enough for Jessen the time walking around the spent of the people-eating plant in the first act was enough for Jessen to this play, and my wife and I agreed. What child needs to risk nightmares for this? Halloween essentially celebrates the fear of death, with ghouls rising from their graves to haunt the evening. Although some children revel in it, others - especially the young - an expecially the young - an expecially the young - and parents be aware of and respect their children's fears.

After all, many children instinctively fear death, abandonment and violence - the basic elements of Halloween and many other fear our culture.

Parents need to make decisions about what is appropriate and healthy for their own children so Halloween can be more like Dorothy's "Oz" than a plunge into a shop of horrors are richildren's fears, realizing horrors are reasonable to them, even if not to adults. Do not push your children to act scary, expose them selves to scary situations or confront fears you consider unrealistic." Let your children to act scary, expose them selves to scary situations or confront fears you consider unrealistic." Let your children to act with the scary of participation. Emphasize the dressing up aspects of Hallowen not the scary. Let your child enjoy Hallowen by pretending to be someone more than the secary. Let your child enjoy Hallowen by pretending to be someone more that the source of the someone more than the source of the princess, mermaid, movie star or athlete. Kids love dress-up and make-believe games, and these are healthy outlets for their creativity, imaginations and ability to "practice" adult sit. Be sure to accompany your child on Halloween rounds, especially if your child is young or has some fears.

As ou guide your young-ster along the trick-or-treat route, sort, you can give reassurance and help process scary creatures by talking about them after each encounter. Go out for treats before dark. Avoid large groups of rowdy, noisy tricksters. Do not force your child to hand out treats in your home; just watching may be all he or she can handle this year.

Halloween-type terrors surface in many movies and television programs, and these need to be carefully monitored by parents as well.

these need to be carefully monitored by parents as well.

Remember that teens are children, too. Ask yourself if it is appropriate for them to be exposed to movies like meld violence, terror and death into money-making entertainment.

In short, by taking a look at the options available to your child, respecting the your child, respecting the sense and acting on your values, you have a wonderful opportunity to make occasions like Halloween healthy and emotionally safe for your child.

Experts say now is time to prepare home

The first freezing temperatures of the season are predicted to hit the Midwest this week, so it's time to prepare your home and garden for winter.

Some furnaces will fire up for the first time in six months, so it's a good idea to have them checked before turning the heat on.

Carbon monoxide gas is a potential danger in most households especially when certain gas appliances, fireplaces and coal stoves are initially brought back into service.

Symptoms of CO2 poisoning are flu-like-headache, dizziness, weakness, nausea, vomiting and sleepiness.

Bob Laut, a heating and cooling professional with Fischer Sheet Metal in Waterloo, said an annual inspection and regular maintenance of appliances minimizes CO2 poison-"Problems can begin after an inspection is tenance of appliances minimized ing risks.

"Problems can begin after an inspection is over, like a crack in a furnace heat exchanger or a leak in a water heater or a bird's nest blocking a flue. You need to have a CO2 detector installed for your protection," Laut said.

Keeping ducts free of dust and contaminants is also a key to preventing "sick-house" all "You can't just clean ducts in a home and expect good results. The entire heating and cooling system must be cleaned and sanitized to be effective," said Richard Melching, owner of the Might Duck Professional Duct Cleaning in Maeystown.

Duct cleaning also improves energy efficiency. According to an Environmental Protection Agency report, 042 inches of dust or dirt on appliance coils and decrease efficiency and appliance coils and decrease efficiency nur with less strain.

Clean plastic sheeting applied to windows and around doors is also an energy saver.

Outside the home, it's about time to digituil bulbs and other tender flowering or vegetating plants from the ground.

"Very tender species like caladium, tuberous begonias and dahlias must be dug before the first frost," said University of Illinois Cooperative Extension educator Ron C. Two or three inches of organic mulch around the bases of evergreens will protect the roots of these trees and shrubs throughout the winter.

By Janice Denham Staff writer

If a genie from a bottle could be lured into granting a wish an hour before dinner, many people who furnish their families with dinner would ask for five minutes of inspiration and 10 minutes of shopping time for a home-cooked

Riddle of week: How can muffin fit inside toaster?

If pancakes and French toast sound oldfashioned for breakfast, Eggo has a new idea in toaster muffins. A package of 6 muffins from the freezer costs about $2.29.
They come in cinnamon, strawberry and blueberry flavors.

"I was expecting a texture more like an English muffin, but my first bite of the cake-like stright, it was a delight," a taster said.

The shape is a thin piece of toast, so the cake-like middle is not thick.

Another taster added, "It browns up nicely with a crust on each side. I see the connection to a muffin, but I'm not sure I'd get it with may be a preceded to the said. They were delicious though. I tried both fruit flavors."

Another taster added me of French toast said, "It really reminded me of French toast and that's what I keep calling it. I liked the 'eggy' texture the outside had. It wan't too sweet, which I liked and the cinnamon flavor was rich but not overwhelming."

The announced Monday.
The Grizzlies were supposed to begin play in June of 2000 as the 11th member of the independent Frontier League.

"While we are disappointed that we will not begin play next summer, we feel that by waiting until 2001, the league, the Grizzlies and the community will all benefit," Grizzlies managing partner Richard A. Sauget said. When the team announced it would be playing home games in a yet-to-be-built stadium in Collinsville, Grizzlies management said the start of the Grizzlies season would be contingent upon a 12th team joining the league.

The Frontier League needs an even nber of teams to make a balanced number of teams to man content schedule.

The league plans to announce the addition of a team in Greensberg, Penn., a town just outside of Pittsburgh But even if-the league awarded a team to the Greensberg area, neither the sta-dium in Collinsville nor one in Greensberg would be ready by June

The Grizzlies were looking toward other venues to house the team while the local stadium was being constructed.

ed.
"We appreciate all of the offers made to us throughout the community from people willing to house the team next year in a temporary facility," Sauget said. "We would also like to thank all of our sponsors and season-ticket holders

It was a good pace and we lost. They were in better condition quality field, a big field. But there were times when we collapsed.

"On the first one they scored weak side, and we could see some letdowns because our wing links were tired. That's where the breakdown was. The other goals may have come about from us trying to get back in the game.

"But they were an excellent host. They couldn't have been more courteous, and it was a nice trip for the kids."

Against Rockhurst, the Warriors got more outstanding goaltending from senior Justin Rochr, but it wasn't enough to steal a victory.

moments where we could have scored.

"Their second goal was simply a matter of not much effort on our part on the play. I was proud of the kids as to how they came back that day, and we did have some of our injuries show up that day quite a bit of trouble with the leg, and we had some others."

"Now our big thing is to get healthy again, get healthy for the playoffs." Baker said. "Belleville West is playing." "Belleville West is playing. Collinsville. They can be a very physical team, so we are going to have to be prepared. We need to get healthy, and we will.

We need to get healthy, and we need to get in shape and be prepared. Because of the nature of how that runs, I am going to be prepared for each team."

"You have to think that even though homecoming car-ries some distractions with it, this is also the very last game of the season. It's the last game the senturs are going to play, and for many of them it's the last time they ever put on a football uniform. You just kind of hope that that's enough motivation to come out and possibly can for the last time on that field."

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY,
OCTOBER 20
With the powerful sun, emotion-filled noon and energetic Mercury all leposited in Leo, it's going take a strong will to resist a passionate owners today. Venus and Mars in impulsive Cancer are no if you are trying to think of a reason not to be mpetuous. Enjoy the ride, play hard and spoil yourself and the ones you ove.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 20). You will discover this year that you prefer he life you have now over changes you have considered. Money becomes more stable for you around September and lebts could be eliminated altogether, ove looks fantastic in the months of January, March and June. Your best highs for love are Virgo and Capricorn. Your lucky numbers are 2, 19, 39 and ARIES (March 21-April 19). A family dispute arises from lack of information. Talk about unfulfilled expectations you have regarding a relationship.

Romantic relationships take off when you're vulnerable enough to let it happen . don't try to appear too cool.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). The joy you get from a relationship is heightened when you stop thinking about every move. An intellectual approach to the job is not necessarily faster or better. Just doing it gets the job done.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Your per-fectionism suits you, but don't expect it in others. Expand your education by taking that class. You have a keen interest in hedonistic pursuits, so go for it.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). A movie gives you a new idea for a business venture. Love is met while you are involved with an intellectual pursuit, such as a workshop or speech. Make temporary living situations more permanent.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Need an expert opinion? Ask your friends. You can count on friends to be supportive and objective. A lover could subordi-nate feelings to thoughts. Encourage others to be themselves around you!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Take your time, and try to be more reflective when making decisions. Pay more attention to yourself, and spend less time concentrating on others. Blunting impulses and suppressing feelings could actually make you ill.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Set your aims high, as this is your day to shine. Others admire your openness to new ideas and willingness to explore opportunities. Help friends come to their own conclusions when they ask you for advice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Relationships will be mutually supportive. Communication levels are improving daily. An investment in yourself will pay off next week. Someone who catches your eye approaches you at a reactive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21).

You could have big suc cess with a small business. Computer technology, soft ware and Internet projects have remarkable appeal. In matters of love do not rush into anything impulsively. Avoid arguments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). The world takes you at your word. Ambition is your best quality. Playing your numbers is not advised. Learn where you stand with a lover. A certain someone glows in your company.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Security in a love relationship comes through an honest con versation. Friends confide in you because they feel your strength. Look beyond the sur-face to your true emotions concerning a

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Family members admire the initiative you have shown. Relatives you thought were set in their ways welcome the new changes in your life. Better relationships develop with a parent, spouse or friend

One of Autoride s most impressive qualities was the way it can traiter was pulled over a series of bumps.

stopped excessive bouncing when a trailer was pulled over a series of burnps. Heveling rear shock absorbers are available in the Premium Ride suspension package. Stopping power, a weakness in earlier models, has been dramatically improved with four-wheel disc brakes that have anti-lock standard. Never once in a day smooth of the standard shour barned to be standard. Both Suburban and Tahoe are available with two-wheel drive, and these models are available with traction control to improve acceleration on slippery surfaces acceleration on slippery surfaces and the series of the standard Autotrac, a full-time four-wheel-drive system that sends drive to the front wheel slip, also can be operated in four-wheel-lngh or four-wheel-low as conditions require.
